Part Two

The ship lowered. And then, a blast came down, leveling the city for a landing site. Once it landed, a metal door came down revealing fighters in saiyan armor.

"We've got to do something" Goku said. He then flew off, heading for West District.

"I'm coming too, Kakorat!" Vegeta said. He too flew off.

Soon, all of the Z fighters were heading for West District.

When they landed at the site, a woman, resembling Frieza emerged. She had a small skirt, a tail and a scouter. "Hello earthlings. I am Icee, ruler of the universe. Are any of you Goku?" she asked.

"I am," Goku told her. "What do you want?"

They easily destroyed the Ginyus.

"Think it's that easy?" Icee asked "Take a look."

The remains of the fallen warriors were rebuilding, forming themselves back together.

The new Ginyus easily overwhelmed the weakened Z fighters. "No!" Goku said. "Ka me ha me ha!" The blast went through the force field, hitting the Ginyus, Icee, and her spacecraft. All of the Ginyus were disintegrated.

Everyone looked over at Icee. Her craft was in pieces. "Ouch." she said. "That tickled."

"What!" Goku screamed. "That's impossible!"

"Goku, I bet you're wondering why I'm here. It wasn't to kill you at first, but then the ship's computers recognized Earth as the last place Frieza was."

"Well any ways," she said. "The real reason I'm here is to..."
